

Warden Message: Tropical Storm Julia
U.S. Embassy Praia, Cape Verde
September 13, 2010

Per the Internet link below, the National Hurricane Center in Miami, FL has issued a tropical storm warning effective today, September 13, 2010, for the Southern Cape Verde islands of Santiago, Maio, Fogo and Brava:

<http://www.nhc.noaa.gov/text/refresh/MIATCPAT2+shtml/130245.shtml>

We have activated our Warden System on all these islands. Please tune into all available TV, radio, and Internet news sources for up-to-date information on storm conditions. Please alert all local U.S. citizens you know of this information and urge caution as weather conditions deteriorate, with possible heavy winds, flooding, electrical power outages, and dangerous road and other transportation conditions.

Please contact the Embassy for any questions or to provide your own accounts of any serious local weather conditions. U.S. citizens living or traveling in Cape Verde are encouraged to register with the Embassy, either online at: <http://praia.usembassy.gov> or in person at the Embassy here in Praia. By registering, you make it easier for us to contact you in emergencies.

With best wishes for your safety,

Consular Section Chief, U.S. Embassy
